

MAY DETERMINE WOMEN'S RIGHTS

Legislature Will Consider Primary Election Act at Special Session

MAY CAUSE BIG FIGHT

Embodies Right of Women to Vote at Presidential Primary for Convention Delegates

LEGISLATURE MEETS MONDAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The right of Illinois women to have a hand in the selection of delegates to National party conventions—a point which has been at issue in construing the existing state laws—may be determined at the special session of the legislature which will convene at Springfield next Monday. Final disposition of the question was made possible by the wording of Governor Dunne's proclamation issued today calling the session.

May Result in Bitter Fight.

The call provides for consideration of the primary election act, thereby embodying the rights of women voters. Chicago members of the legislature expressed the opinion today that this portion of the call would result in a bitter political fight which might keep the special session running much of the winter.

Under the existing statutes, it is contended, women in Illinois can vote for all elective officers not named in the state constitution. This would allow women to vote at presidential primary elections for convention delegates.

However, officials say the primary law is ambiguous and does not make clear whether convention delegates shall be elected by direct vote or by congressional conventions at which women have no representation. Many contend that under the present laws convention delegates must be selected by congressional conventions. On the contrary others hold that such delegates should be selected at the presidential preference primary.

Governor Dunne is said to favor the direct election plan, which would give women voters a hand in the selection of convention delegates.

Would Combine Primaries...

On the ground that thousands of dollars would be saved to the taxpayers under such a plan, friends of the one primary plan are said to be ready to support a bill which would combine the state and presidential primaries on one day. At present the state primary is held in September and the presidential primary in April. It is said such an amendment of the primary act could be made under the terms of the governor's call.

Opponents of such a plan contend that it would force politicians to show their "hands" too soon before the opening of the campaign.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 19.—Governor Dunne said tonight that he was not influenced to include the consideration of the primary election act in his call for a special session of the legislature by a desire to give Illinois women a hand in the selection of national convention delegates.

"My only purpose in embodying the primary election act matter in the call was in order that the fact contradiction in the law may be corrected. In one place, the law stated that national convention delegates shall be selected at the presidential preference primary. In another place the same law says choice shall be made at the congressional convention," said Governor Dunne.

Matters to Be Dealt With.

The many matters with which the legislature will deal will include: Enactment of laws making appropriation for the payment of the officers and members of the next general assembly and the salaries of state officers; providing for the ordinary and contingent expenses made necessary by the decision of the supreme court in the Ferguson decision, and extending funds to the attorney-general and appellate courts of the first and second districts.

Enactment of laws enlarging the appropriation and taxation powers for corporate purposes of cities and villages and amending the act which limits the rate percent of the tax levy for county purposes in counties having a population of 300,000 or over.

Enactment of laws amending existing property assessment laws and road and bridge laws.

Passage of legislation creating commissions to arrange for the Illinois centennial celebration and to investigate existing pension laws and recommend new pension legislation.

Enactment of laws fixing the salaries of various state officers such as the chief train inspector, secretary of the industrial board, executive officer of the state board of health, etc.

To amend the act relating to the governor's veto power.

To amend certain sections of the primary election law.

SERBS MAY MAKE STAND ON PLAINS OF KOSSOVO

BULGARS ARE SAID ALREADY TO HAVE PASSED MONASTIR

Position of Greece is Unchanged, Although a More Hopeful Feeling Prevails in Paris and London—Lively Artillery Engagements in Alsace.

London, Nov. 19.—The position of the Serbian army and the attitude of Greece toward the entente powers still are the outstanding questions of interest in Europe. Reliable information on both situations is so meager that the country is unable to judge what changes, if any, have taken place. It is thought possible the Serbians will make a stand on the historic plain of Kossovo, east of the Montenegrin frontier, where more than 500 years ago they lost their independence to Turkey. They must either do this or retire into the mountains of Montenegro or northern Albania, where, although they would be nearer help from the Adriatic, it would be difficult to keep them supplied, owing to the absence of roads. The Austro-Germans on the north are now within thirty miles of Mitrovitz-Pristina line of the Serbians, while the Bulgarians in the south are said already to have passed Monastir.

The position of Greece is unchanged, although a more hopeful feeling prevails in Paris and London since Denys Coghlin's visit to King Constantine and the Greek ministers.

There have been lively artillery engagements in Alsace and at some other points on the west.

In the east the Germans report there is no change in the situation, while Petrograd claims repulses of the Germans on the Dvina and Styrrivers.

The Italians still are hammering the Austrian positions on the Isonzo, but while they are gaining a little, they have not succeeded in the capture of Gorizia, which again has been under heavy shell fire for several days.

WILLIAMS OPEN CAMPAIGN WITH ATTACK ON SHERMAN

DECATUR, Ill., Nov. 19.—Congressman-at-Large William E. Williams of Pittsfield opened his campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor at a banquet of representatives of every county in the Nineteenth Congressional district tonight. The meeting was a crystallization of the opposition in Central Illinois, to Gov. Dunne. Williams declared that the Democratic administration alone is responsible for a term of prosperity.

Speaking of Senator Sherman's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, Williams said:

"His candidacy is an insult to the Progressive element of the Republican party. The greatest hope of the Democrats is that he is nominated. If he is, we may confidently expect the rehabilitation of the progressive party in Illinois."

DUNNE REMAINS AT MANSION

WORKING ON HIS MESSAGE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 19.—Governor Dunne did not go to the state house today, but remained at the mansion and worked on his message to the legislature, which is to be delivered soon after the assembly convenes Monday. He denied himself to all but a few official callers.

It is understood the governor will urge the legislature to complete all state financial legislation before taking up any of the matters about which there is likely to be fighting.

TAKE INITIAL STEPS TOWARD ORGANIZING UNEMPLOYED MEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—Initial steps toward organizing the unemployed men of the United States were taken today by the American Federation of Labor in convention here. Organizers acting under direction of the local central bodies of various parts of the country are to undertake the work in conjunction with the executive council of the federal executive council, which recommended that the task be started as soon as practicable. The convention unanimously approved the council's recommendation.

INLAND RIVER IMPROVEMENTS

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 18.—The annual convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement association opened here this morning. Delegations from Pittsburgh, Louisville and other cities in this section are present. Boards of trade and commerce are urging a campaign to bring about a more favorable attitude toward waterways improvements on the part of congress. It is pointed out that from the lump appropriation of twenty-five millions for waterways made in the last congress after the rivers and harbors bill had been defeated, Ohio river improvement projects were apportioned $3,300,000, a sum declared to be wholly inadequate.

O'SHAUGHNESSY SPEAKS

AT BOSTON.

Boston, Nov. 18.—Nelson O'Shaughnessy, former charge d'affaires in Mexico, is the speaker today at the assembly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce. His topic is "Our National Security."

HOLD DR. HASELDEN WAS JUSTIFIED

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict in Case of Defective Infant

IMPLIES DISAPPROVAL

Jurors Believe Physician's Highest Duty is to Relieve Suffering and to Save Life

SHOWS X-RAY PICTURES

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Six physicians, composing a coroner's jury today held that Dr. H. J. Haiselden, who permitted an infant, Allan John Bollinger, to die when an operation might have saved him a life of unhappiness as a defective, was morally and ethically justified in refusing to perform the operation which his conscience did not sanction.

Contains Implied Disapproval. An implied disapproval of a course wherein a physician might determine whether it was desirable for a patient to live was contained in the concluding paragraph of the verdict: "We believe that the physician's highest duty is to relieve suffering and to save or prolong life."

The jury was composed of the following physicians: John P. Golden, Mercy Hospital; Arthur Rankin, professor of anatomy, Loyola University; Howard Chislett, dean of Hahnemann College; D. A. K. Steele, dean of the physicians and surgeons college of the University of Illinois; Henry F. Lewis, professor of Obstetrics, Cook county hospital; Ludwig Haktoen, professor of pathology, Rush Medical College of the University of Chicago.

Consulted Fifteen Physicians.

Dr. Haiselden in his testimony said he did not reach his final decision not to operate until he had consulted fifteen practicing physicians, fourteen of whom approved his course of letting the little life expire, he said. The mother of the child, wife of a well-to-do workman, who also is the mother of three other children all physically and mentally normal also agreed that the baby would be better off dead, he declared.

"I did not operate, first, because of the deformity of the child and, second, because of the seriousness of the case," he said. "I did not urge the parents to follow my advice. I simply gave my opinion as a consulting surgeon. I was morally certain the child would be a defective."

"On what did you base your opinion?" asked Dr. Chislett. "On the actions of the child." "Was the brain normal?" "No; it was not."

"Was the child blind?" "Well, I could not exactly say. Its eyes would not respond to light."

"Was the child deaf?" "One of the ears was gone and I could not determine whether there was an auditory nerve."

Shows X-Ray Pictures.

Dr. Haiselden showed a number of X-ray pictures of the child's anatomy.

Dr. John Dill Robertson, city health commissioner who testified that there was no evidence that the child would have been mentally defective issued a statement in part as follows:

"A question of tremendous importance is at once raised as to whether the right of any child to live should rest wholly on the judgment of any physician. I don't want to be understood as questioning the right of any act as his conscience in any particular case would dictate and to operate or not in accordance therewith."

"At the same time the life of every child should be so safeguarded by the community that it would not have to depend upon the judgment of any one or two physicians."

"If we are going to depart from the recognized duty of the physician to save life regardless of what that life shall be afterward, then the state must provide some tribunal similar to that of an ancient Sparta which questioned the right of every child to live until it had been passed upon by this tribunal."

OKLAHOMA DEFEATS

KANSAS AGGIES

Manhattan, Kans., Nov. 19.—The undefeated University of Oklahoma football eleven added another victory to its long list of games today by humbling the squad from the Kansas state agricultural college, 21 to 7. The only Aggie touchdown came as the result of a fumble a few minutes after the first period opened.

HARVARD AND YALE

MUSICAL DUAL CONCERT.

Boston, Nov. 19.—The Yale Musical Club will join with the Harvard musicians in the annual dual concert tonight in Jordan Hall. Glee, mandolin and guitar clubs are included, and the event is always a rousing society affair, in which football rivalries are forgotten.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS

MARION, Ill., Nov. 19.—W. W. Clemens, first cousin of Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain) committed suicide here today. He had been a sufferer from neuritis. He formerly was state's attorney of this county.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—George W. Perkins, conferring here today with local leaders of the Progressive party, said that "the Progressive party must and will have a national ticket in the field in 1916."

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 19.—A new outbreak of foot and mouth disease was reported today from Macomb, Ill., where the herd of M. J. Sullivan was ordered slaughtered. This is the first outbreak reported in the state for three days.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The Rev. Father William Henry Ironsides Reaney, chaplain of the United States navy with the rank of captain, who died last night, was often called the father of boxing in the United States' navy. He also introduced other athletic sports among the sailors.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 19.—In a proclamation issued here tonight, Gov. Dunne urges upon commercial and civil organizations and citizens of the state to observe Dec. 3, which is the ninety-seventh anniversary of the admission of Illinois to the Union.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 19.—Edward Phillips, whose clothing caught fire when a tank of naphtha ignited last night, died here today. A spark from the man's pipe fell in the tank, causing an explosion.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Peter M. Hoffman, coroner, today notified Parker H. Sedcombe, supervising statistician of the coroner's office, that statements regarding conditions among girls in Chicago high schools rendered his further connection with the office undesirable.

BOSTON, Nov. 19.—William Dean Howells of New York today was awarded the gold medal by the National Institute of Arts and Letters for distinguished work in the writing of fiction. Mr. Howells was not present, but a letter from him was read by Ripley Hitchcock, secretary of the institute, expressing his appreciation.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 19.—M. B. Davidson, secretary of the Illinois State Board of Agriculture, will deliver an address before the American Association of Fairs and Expositions to be held in Chicago Dec. 2, 3 and 4.

PROGRESS IN TRADE ACCOMPANIES GREATER INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY

Rain Helps Winter Wheat—Final Purveyors Buy Freely From Whole Sale Houses as Well as from Jobbers.

New York, Nov. 19.—Fradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Further progress in trade accompanies greater industrial activity, higher prices, better collections, increased demand for money, record bank deposits, sharp reduction in unemployment, heavier payrolls, a 1 1/2 movement of grain and lower temperatures over a wide area, which, latter has given snap to retail trade in seasonal wearing apparel. Rain has helped winter wheat and cold weather far south, has put a period to cotton growth. Final purveyors short of goods as they are and feeling certain of sustained growth in business are buying freely from wholesale houses as well as from jobbers. While ordering for future delivery is not neglected, the necessity of existing goods for near future use is very marked and in some sections of the country heavy weight fabrics are positively scarce. Holiday trade is proceeding on a satisfactory basis."

"Weekly bank clearings $4,948,842,000."

JERSEY MAY ADOPT

EUGENIC LAW.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 19.—The question of enacting a state-wide eugenic law comes up today at the conference of health officers of New Jersey. Patterson has put over its law to force brides and grooms to show certificates of health, because of the evasion that is so easy by going to a nearby city. The eugenic law is favored by many city officials throughout the state, and it is possible that a campaign will be begun to enact such a law at the next sitting of the legislature.

PACIFIC TRADE WITH SOUTH AMERICA BOOMING

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 19.—A record November in the traffic between this port and West Coast of South America is assured by the heavy cargoes and number of sailings. Flour, wheat, canned salmon and lumber comprise the bulk of the cargoes going south, and the vessels are loading on the West Coast with Chilean ore for the local smelters.

FINISH FIRST LAP OF JOURNEY.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Nov. 19.—Circled to earth from a height of 4,000 feet, six army aeroplanes, one after another, composing the first aero squadron of the United States army, reached here today from Fort Sill, Okla., after making the first lap of their journey to Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio. The trip was made without mishap, at an average of ninety miles an hour, or thirty-eight minutes for the trip.

GOV. SPRY TO WAR ON LAWBREAKERS

Announcement Follows the Execution of Joseph Hillstrom

TO START WORK AT ONCE

Declares National Guard Will Be Used If Necessary to Rid Utah of Lawless Element

TO SEND BUDY TO CHICAGO

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 19.—The execution of Joseph Hillstrom, the poet philosopher this morning for the murder of J. G. Morrison and Morrison's son, on January 10th, 1914, was followed by Gov. Spry's announcement this afternoon that he would "clear the state of the lawless element that now infests it."

"Every lawbreaker, every man who is opposed to law and order—call themselves what they may—will be driven out of the state," he said. "I am going to see that the work is started at once. If the city officers and others whose duty it is, do not do so, I will do it myself."

"I am going to see that inflammatory street-speaking is stopped, and at once, let them call it 'free speech' or any other name they wish."

Will Use Guard if Necessary.

The governor said he did not believe it would be necessary to use the national guard but that the state troops would be used if necessary to rid the state of the men who have been writing threatening letters and making incendiary speeches.

It is known that a considerable amount of evidence in this connection has been collected by the state during the last few months and the governor said very emphatically tonight he intended to adopt drastic measures to end the condition of alarm which has existed here as a result of the agitation of the Hillstrom case.

The alibi sought to be established for Hillstrom by William Busky, of Seattle, is not supported by the records here. He was not with Hillstrom from two o'clock until ten o'clock the afternoon and evening of the murders as Hillstrom called alone at the Morrison grocery that afternoon and remained there a considerable period. Busky did not testify for Hillstrom at the preliminary hearing, as he asserts. Hillstrom did not offer any defense at the hearing and called no witnesses. In fact all the witnesses at both the preliminary hearing and the trial were local persons who still are here. No foreman of the name of "Hines" ever was employed at the Murray smelter and the smelting company has no record of an application for work by Hillstrom and Busky.

Did Not Know Busky.

Busky's name does not appear on the jail records here and if he served a term of forty-one days, as he says, it was under another name. Hillstrom's body was turned over to a local undertaker by the I. W. W. today.

Ed Rowan, local secretary of the Industrial Workers of the World announced tonight that the funeral would take place Sunday afternoon under the direction of the I. W. W. and without religious service. He said the body would be sent to William D. Haywood for burial at Chicago.

Police Search for Busky.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 19.—The Seattle police are looking for William Busky, who affixed his cross to an affidavit to the effect that he was with Joseph Hillstrom from two to ten o'clock on the afternoon of Jan. 10, 1914, when the Morrison murder took place in Salt Lake City. The belief at police headquarters is that the members of the Industrial Workers of the World used Busky, who appears to be familiar with Salt Lake City and its suburbs, in an effort to stay the execution and at the same time protect Busky by having him sign the affidavit with a cross to protect him from a perjury charge. One newspaper reporter, employed by a paper that has aided in the movement to delay Hillstrom's execution was permitted to see Busky a short time but with this exception Busky was out of reach during the day.

DEDICATE LEE STATUE

AT GETTYSBURG.

Gettysburg, Pa., Nov. 19.—The 52nd anniversary of the dedication of the National Cemetery at Gettysburg is being observed here today by the dedication of Virginia's statue to General Robert E. Lee. The monument stands on West Confederate Avenue, Seminary Ridge, where the men under Pickett started on their famous charge. A big delegation has come from Virginia for the dedication, and the other southern states have sent representatives.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 19.—President Wilson will press a button at six tonight to open the ten-day fair which will dedicate the new Masonic home in this city.

GEN. VILLA DENOUNCES THE U. S. GOVERNMENT

GOV. RANDALL PUBLISHES PROCLAMATION IN SONORA

Refers to President Wilson As An Evangelicist Professor of Philosophy—Claim Oregon Was Repulsed Near Cananea.

Nogales, Ariz., Nov. 19.—The battle for possession of Hermosillo, capital of Sonora, has been in progress since late yesterday according to advices received at Nogales, Sonora, opposite here by Villa officials. It also was called that Gen. Obregon, the Carranza leader, was repulsed in an engagement near Cananea.

Carlos Randall, acting Villa governor of Sonora, declared today that dispatches received by him today indicated that Gen. Obregon had been completely routed in the fighting north of Cananea. Three hundred dead were left on the battlefield according to these reports.

Gen. Villa personally is directing the attack on the garrison of Gen. Diguez at Hermosillo. Gov. Randall stated, and messages from him stated that that city was completely surrounded. Villa officials were reported here to have confiscated a consignment of copper said to be valued at $500,000 which arrived at Nogales, Sonora, today from the mines of the Cananea Consolidated Copper company.

An elderly woman was shot by soldiers at Nogales, Sonora, during a celebration last night during which shouts of "Viva Carranza" were said to have been made by the soldiers. No one was arrested by the Villa authorities.

A long proclamation in which Gen. Villa denounced Gen. Carranza and the United States government was issued by Gov. Randall last night. The proclamation which Randall attributed to Villa was published and posted in Nogales, Sonora. It refers to President Wilson as an evangelicist professor of philosophy and declares Mexico cannot be pacified by Carranza because the people will not accept a government forced upon them by the United States.

CLARK FAVORS DEFENSE PLAN WITHIN REASONABLE LIMITS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Champ Clark, speaker of the house, told President Wilson today he favored a national defense program within reasonable limits. He said he had not committed himself to the details of the administration's proposed army and navy increases, because he had not considered them thoroughly, but that he believed the coming congress would work out satisfactory legislation.

WOULD PLACE THOMPSON IN RACE FOR NOMINATION FOR PRESIDENT

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 19.—A petition was filed in the office of the secretary of state here today for placing upon the Republican ticket the name of William Hale Thompson of Chicago for the nomination for president.

Mr. Thompson's record of law enforcement as mayor of Chicago is recited in the petition as one good reason why he should receive the nomination.

BERTSCHE STATES HALPIN VISITED "CLAIRVOYANT TRUST" HEADS

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—John J. Halpin, the former chief of detectives, bribes for the protection of criminals visited in person the heads of the "clairvoyant trust" and asked them protection for their operations, according to Christian P. ("Barney") Bertsche's testimony today.

Bertsche was brought here from Joliet prison where he is serving a sentence for a clairvoyant swindle as the chief witness for the state. Bertsche was the "brains" of the syndicate and according to evidence heretofore submitted, the agent operating between the swindlers and the police.

WISCONSIN PLANS WHITE PLAGUE COUNT

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 18.—The annual convention of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association opened here today and the chief interest of the delegates centers in the "tuberculosis week" in Wisconsin, from Dec. 6 to 12, during which every person is asked to be examined by a physician for evidence of tubercular infection.

DROP BOMBS ON VERONA.

Paris, Nov. 18.—A hostile aircraft flew over Verona, Italy, this morning, several bombs being dropped, according to a Havas despatch from Rome. One child was slightly injured. There were no other casualties nor was any material damage done, the despatch states.

THIEF IS RELEASED.

London, Nov. 19.—Kenneth G. Triest, the former Princeton student held in London as a German spy, has been released by the British authorities and will leave with his father for the United States tomorrow.

EXCURSIONISTS TO CHICAGO.

The Washab and Alton railroads sold 161 tickets to Chicago last night, and they expect about 80 more to go on the trains which will leave this morning.

CHARLES B. MUNDAY IS FOUND GUILTY

Jury Fixes Punishment at Five Years Im- prisonment

TAKES FIVE BALLOTS

Munday's Only Comment is "I Will Fight This Case to the Last Ditch"

TO HEAR MOTION TODAY

MORRIS, Ill., Nov. 19.—Charles B. Munday, vice president of the LaSalle Street Trust and Savings bank of Chicago, of which William Lorimer was president, tonight was found guilty of conspiring to wreck the institution, and his punishment was fixed by the jury at five years' imprisonment.

Munday and Son in Court Room. The maximum punishment was five years' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000. Munday and his son, J. G. Munday, were in the court room, Munday's wife, his two daughters, and one son, Rev. Father Joseph Munday, were not in court.

The LaSalle Street bank was organized by Munday and, according to charges of the state's attorney in the present trial, the name "senator" as applying to William Lorimer was capitalized as one of the bank's big assets.

When it failed, in June, 1914, there followed the collapse of nine other banks and trust companies of the so-called Lorimer Munday string of banking houses. Fourteen persons were indicted, Lorimer and Munday being the most important of the alleged conspirators. The indictments charged them with looting the institution of almost $2,500,000 and with violation of practically every banking law of the state.

The state elected to try Munday first, and when he contended that his associations with Lorimer precluded a fair trial in Chicago, a change of venue to this city was granted.

Charged Assets Were Stolen. It was charged that assets of the LaSalle Street concern were stolen to organize the other banks in the chain; that checks had been "kited," and that the parent bank had been insolvent for some time prior to the collapse.

Munday's rise to prominence in the financial world was spectacular. In a comparatively few years, he went from manager of a small telegraph office to part ownership in eleven banks and a dozen large business concerns. He was born and raised in Litchfield, Ill., where his father was justice of the peace. He became interested in grain while working as a telegrapher, and in 1890 entered the service of an elevator concern. Later he came to control this business.

In 1902 he organized the Litchfield Bank and Trust company. This was his first banking venture. He first met Lorimer in 1907, when the latter ran for the United States senate, and Munday was active in his service. In 1909, with Lorimer and a number of the latter's friends, he organized the LaSalle Street National bank, which later became the LaSalle Street Trust and Savings bank.

Jury Takes Five Ballots. They disagreed on the penalty, at first standing nine for the maximum.

Lorimer and Henry W. Huttig of Muscatine, Iowa, will go to trial after the first of next year, it was said by State's Attorney Macley Hoyne of Cook county.

Motion for a new trial will be heard tomorrow.

"I will fight this case to the last ditch," was the only comment Munday would make.

The verdict was:

"We, the jury, find the defendant, Charles Munday, guilty in the form and manner charged in the indictment, and fix the penalty at five years' imprisonment in the state penitentiary."

The jury deliberated six hours and twenty-five minutes, after a trial of eight weeks' duration.

The M. K. & T., the Missouri Pacific, the Frisco, and some other roads are not pleased with the decision of the Missouri public service commission relating to passenger rates. The commission changed the legal fare from 2 cents to 2 1/2 cents, but made it obligatory on the railroads to sell mileage books of 500 or 1,000 miles at 2 cents. The roads claim that this order will result in the revival of the ticket-scalping business, which has taken years of effort to suppress. The roads may not file a new schedule made possible by the ruling and instead may elect to proceed under the old system. This is understood to be legally possible if they wish to follow the plan.

The Church and Labor.

The action of certain delegates to the Federation of Labor convention at San Francisco when they hissed Vice President Duncan from the floor because of commendatory remarks he made about the church, was uncalled for and did not show a proper spirit. It seems that a number of the delegates to the convention are bitterly opposed to churches generally and criticize them particularly for not opening their doors to house the unemployed. The church is not above criticism, and the custom has been to open its doors too infrequently, but in later years there has been a growing tendency to have the church become an active force in aiding labor to secure its rights. Various bureaus are maintained for this very purpose, and aside from this organized activity a great many ministers and churchmen have made it clear that they are aligned with the best element of the labor movement.

Boost for Commission Form.

The commission form of government, which may be said to have been on trial for several years past, has just been given endorsement by the Missouri supreme court. This statement came as a result of an effort to have the law declared unconstitutional which empowers cities of the second and third class to adopt the commission form. All the members of the court concurred in the opinion, and said: "The terms of the act under review and those of the similar act passed in 1913 demonstrate that the state of Missouri was only following the trend of those measures of reform previously enacted in the leading states of the middle west and in other portions of the country for the eradication of inefficiency in the working of their governmental agencies. The object of this and similar legislation is to give cities opportunity to adopt the commission form, the chief excellence of which is the concentration of municipal power in the hands of a few men or responsible agents. The act under review was devised and in our opinion will contribute to the ends claimed for it."

HAPPY ENDINGS

The yarn with happy ending may quite old-fashioned be, but it is often lending much happiness to me. Too many authors bore us with tales that rend the heart, and then stand up before us and talk about their Art. I like the kind of story that leads aggressive chaps thru perils dire and gory, and fifty kinds of scraps. The hero and the maiden should meet all sorts of woe, and for a time be wadin' in snares set by the foe; that slimy foe, exulting, should triumph for a while; and then go catapulting out to the garbage pile. The villainous and sinful should get the hook, say I, while virtue, glad and grateful, gets closer to the pie. It's useless, tiresome, unless we find it closing with sound of wedding bells. And while the hero's banking his hard-earned roll of kale, the villain should be clanking his fetters in a jail. When to the bookstore vending for something to peruse, look for the happy ending—pay nothing for the blues.

of the United States supreme court makes it clear that Justice Hughes will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination in the election next year. In 1912 there was a decided sentiment for Hughes as a compromise candidate and his name was suggested in various caucuses, altho he was not placed in nomination. At that time Justice Hughes made it clear that he was not seeking the nomination and did not feel that he was in any position to accept if nominated.

The letter just made public to the Nebraska Republicans is somewhat terse and the writer is unequivocal in his declaration that he will not be a candidate and somewhat imperative in his request that his name be withdrawn.

In the face of this fact it seems useless for certain Nebraska Republicans to insist, as they are doing, that they will leave the name of Justice Hughes on their ballot. They argue that they had not asked him for a statement at this time and had not placed his name on the ticket with the end in view of bringing forth a declaration of intention from him. They say that in suggesting the name of Justice Hughes that they had the good of the country and the party at heart and that it is the duty of any man if the people choose him for a high position in this country to set aside any personal wishes or preferences he may have. Justice Hughes has many qualifications to fit him for the presidency and if it were known that he expected to be a candidate or would like to have his name considered, there is no doubt but that almost immediately he would have a great following, but the emphatic announcement on his part that he cannot and will not be a candidate should put an end to the consideration of his name.

SPECIAL SESSION CALLED

Gov. Dunne yesterday issued a call for an emergency session, which will convene Monday, Nov. 22. It was the original intention of the governor to have only the subject of appropriations considered at the special session, but the pressure was so great in favor of bringing up other questions that he finally yielded, and nineteen distinct subjects are included in the call. It is therefore certain that the legislature will be in session for a considerable period.

A number of the questions to be considered relate to taxation, and a great deal of time is necessarily consumed in the discussion of questions of such great importance. Included also is the question of amending the Tice road law so that a majority of the votes cast will be all that is necessary for carrying a bond issue for road improvement. It took a long time to pass the Tice law and there are now strong influences against it, altho in the main the measure is one of great benefit to the state at large. The discussion of this question will also take a great deal of time, so it is easy to figure that the extra session is almost certain to run well into the coming year.

With the recollection of the weary time caused by the long deadlock at the last session still in mind, and with a knowledge, too, that the special session has been made necessary because of unlawful actions at the regular session, it does not seem too much to hope that the legislators will attend strictly to business at the special session and will push thru the work in a proper way without undue delay. It is to be hoped, too, that whatever measures are determined upon will not be settled and voted on just in the closing hours of the sessions.

Another reason why the special session will likely be lengthy is that the call provides for the consideration of the primary election act. This will bring up again the question of the right of women voters to participate in the selection of delegates to the national party conventions. This has been a mooted question up to this time, with a difference of opinion as to the intent of the law. The consideration of the primary act, especially because of its relation to the political rights of women, will be most certain to result in a bitter fight.

Another proposition on which there is likely to be decisive trouble is that of combining the state and presidential primary on one day in order to cut down election expenses. Under the present law the presidential primary is held in April and the state in September. When the general assembly met it was commonly understood that the proposition of combining the dates did not meet with favor among candidates for state positions. They had the feeling that if a joint primary were decided upon and the date made early that they would be forced to make public certain political lineups which they would prefer to keep in the background until a later date.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS.

New York—Mrs. Charles S. Whitman will assist her husband, Governor Whitman, at the reception which will be tendered tomorrow in the executive mansion at Albany to the two women envoys of the Women's Congressional Union who are carrying a suffrage petition from the Pacific Coast in favor of a federal amendment. The envoys, Mrs. Sarah Bard Field of Oregon and Miss Frances Jolliffe of California, are the envoys in charge of the monster petition which contains the signatures of 50,000 women voters.

Kansas City, Mo.—The state of Kansas may establish next year the precedent of sending a woman to the House of Representatives in Washington. Mrs. James Monroe Miller, wife of a former congressman from that state, may be nominated in the fourth Kansas district by the Republicans to make the race against Congressman Dudley Doolittle, Democrat. Mrs. Miller learned to like Washington during the years she lived there while her husband was in Congress. She is president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, and is a member of the state penal board, in charge of the prisons and reformatories of the state. William Allen White, who is backing her candidacy, declares she has the courage, wisdom and tact necessary to win the office and to make good in the halls of Congress.

Washington—Rehearsals are being conducted for the big Susan B. Anthony pageant which is to be a feature of the convention of the Congressional Union, beginning Dec. 6. Miss Hazel Union, the author of the production, is in charge of the rehearsals. The pageant will have a number of "episodes" showing the growth of the movement begun by Susan B. Anthony, the noted leader of equal suffrage in the old days.

Chicago—The women of Chicago who have attained prominence in the arts, drama, music and other fields, have combined in the organization of the Cordon Club. The by-laws of the club assert that "Cordon is an organization of women formed for the purpose of establishing a common meeting ground for the lovers of independence and self-expression whose vocations permit of excursions beyond the domestic bounds." There are 500 members, and Miss Clara E. Laughlin is the first president.

Minneapolis—Miss Eva Booth, the Salvation Army leader will arrive in town on Friday to take part in the annual northern congress of the Army. On Sunday evening she will dress in a costume of rags and "will tell the tale of a broken heart and sing a song of love." Governor Hammond will introduce her to the audience and fifty prominent citizens will sit with her on the stage.

Boston—Prominent women of the East are taking lively interest in the formation of a branch of the French society that has charge of the education of children orphaned by the war. Misses Elinor Fell and Florence Schofield of England arrived here today from New York and Washington, and reported many voluntary offers to care for the schooling of one or more children. A big meeting of society women will greet the movement here today, and other large cities of the country will also be visited.

San Francisco—To spread the use of goats' milk for feeding human babies, two prominent girls have gone into goat-raising. The girls are Miss Irmagard Richards, niece of Admiral Frank Fletcher and Miss Morris Wagner. They opened a farm for goats, and a few weeks ago exhibited some of their best milkers from their flock of thirty full-blooded goats at the Exposition. The girls have an eye for profit, but they maintain that it was their chief desire to prove the greater value of goats' milk over cows' milk in the feeding of babies.

St. Louis—Society leaders of St. Louis, in unusual scenes and stunts, will be shown on the screen at the Victoria Theatre tomorrow and Saturday night, for the benefit of the Protestant Orphans' Home. Some of the most prominent women of the city have posed in unique stunts, and there is an air of expectancy that the audience will be made to gasp at the effects.

Now don't shiver but go to Knoles and get that winter suit.

BIG LOT SALE WILL BE HELD AT CLEMENTS NEXT TUESDAY

New Town Sure to Grow for Location Is Excellent—Land Platted Well Suited to Building.

Walton & Taylor Bros. have announced a sale of town lots at Clements Station to occur next Tuesday, Nov. 23. Clements Station has not grown rapidly since it was established because efforts heretofore made for the purchase of building sites have been unavailing. Recently Messrs. Taylor Bros. & Walton were fortunate in making the purchase of land from Mr. Elynn which is splendidly located for town lots. The site chosen and platted lies not far distant from the station and the land slopes in a suitable way for building. The lots have been nicely graded and there is every indication that the sale next Tuesday will attract a large company of buyers. The firm has held a number of successful sales in this county and the one at Clements bids fair to outdo the previous record.

Clements is well located on the Chicago & Alton railroad and is surrounded by some of the best farm land in the state of Illinois. Substantial farmers live in the locality and the development of the little town will be to the advantage of the whole community. The site chosen is a logical one and the men from Kentucky who have arranged this sale were quick to see the advantages offered.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Receives Surprise
on 17th Birthday

Friends of Miss Ruth Swanson gathered at the public square last evening and went in a body to her home in South Jacksonville. The occasion for the surprise was the seventeenth birthday of Miss Swanson and the evening in all respects was a pleasant one.

For Newly-Weds

Misses Louise Gayette and Edith Taylor entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner Thursday night, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Long, who were recently married. The gathering took place at the home of Miss Gayette and the affair was very enjoyable in every way.

VISIT MADE TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF ALEXANDER

Children are Bright and Interesting and Institution is Under Good Management.

Friday morning the writer had the great pleasure of a visit with the schools of Alexander and found a lot of bright and interesting children in the care of C. W. Andrews, principal and Miss Daily in the primary department. The visitor was invited to address the pupils and both rooms were brought together for that purpose and the children paid very good attention and seemed much interested in the remarks made to them.

As at other places, foreign nations were the theme and the ways and customs of the far away people made a deep impression on the young hearers. It is hard to realize at this distance the great advantages we possess and enjoy in this favored land and the speaker took pains to impress on the minds of his young friends the value of the great privileges we enjoy in this country.

Mr. Andrews said the directors, Messrs. Benj. Davenport, F. B. Six and Thomas Cockin were liberal in the matter of school supplies, charts, maps and the like. The building is in good order and the furniture is clean and well kept. There is no playground at all and if the town builds a new schoolhouse that will have attention. As was explained, the school house was built and the town has grown up around it till it is wholly surrounded. It makes less differences when pupils go home to dinner as is the case with most of the children in the school but larger quarters would be enjoyed by them.

Some pictures adorn the walls and a few more would be good stock. The building is heated with ordinary stoves but they were in good condition. In the principal's room in which the visitor spoke the light comes in from the sides and rear, which is well.

The following are the pupils in the school:

Lloyd McCall.
Frank Ryman.
Lawrence Patterson.
Kennon Stapleton.
Percy Davenport.
Cecil Burgess.
Louis Morrow.
Carl Trent.
Lester Hines.
Owen Robin.
William Wood.
Carl Mason.

HAS BEEN HONORED.

Prof. Leo T. Hickson, who is taking a scientific course at Columbia University, was recently honored by being appointed assistant to Alexander Smith, who is at the head of the department of chemistry. Mr. Hickson was chosen from the membership of the entire class and his selection speaks well for his ability as a teacher. Prof. Hickson was for several years a member of the faculty at Routt college and had charge of athletics at that institution. Columbia university in all its various branches numbers 14,098 students and 920 instructors.

MASONS AND FRIENDS ENJOY EVENING AT WOODSON

Murrayville Lodge Acts as Host to Occasion and a Large Number Enjoys Program and Banquet.

It is often unjustly claimed that Free Masons take to themselves all the good times, have all lodge meeting secret, leave the wives and daughters at home when anything good is going on but certainly Murrayville Lodge No. 432 Ancient Free and Accepted Masons is an exception as any one would admit after looking in at Colton's hall, Woodson, Friday evening when the lodge was host to the members, their wives and families from the oldest to the youngest. Murrayville Lodge embraces both Woodson and Murrayville Masons and meets in the lodge room in the former place. The officers are:

Worshipful Master—Harry Cade.
Senior Warden—Earl Charles.
Junior Warden—Wm. Cook.
Senior Deacon—John Baxter.
Junior Deacon—Warren Wright.
Senior Steward—James Devore.
Junior Steward—James Dunaway.
Secretary—J. H. Dial.
Treasurer—W. D. Henry.
Tyler—Thomas Sooy.

Some time ago it was decided to have the ladies as special guests of honor and Prof. J. H. Dial, James T. Self and Dr. R. R. Jones were made a committee to carry out the project.

For the brothers a banquet was decided on and for the special pleasure of the ladies a program of music, wit, literature and humor was planned and the whole was a fine success.

All first assembled in the Masonic lodge room and at the appointed hour marched to Colton's hall where the tables were set. More than 250 sat down to supper and all were served by the Unity Workers of Unity Presbyterian church and the bill of fare was truly superb. Excellent music was supplied during the evening by the Murrayville orchestra, consisting of:

Mrs. Charles Short, piano.
Willard Wesner, violin.
C. Justus Wright, cornet.
Edwin Clemens, clarinet.
Charles Short, drum.

After the supper had been fully enjoyed chairs were turned toward the stage and all prepared to enjoy the literary part of the evening. First came a recitation "Mr. Dooley on Microbes," by Miss Gleckler, teacher of expression at the Woman's College. This was followed by another humorous selection, "Her First Trip to the Butcher." The talented young lady was greeted with loud applause and an earnest encore to which she responded with a selection entitled, "Hello."

Next came a monologue in costume by Willard Wesner who showed unusual talent in delineating character. His costume was certainly striking and his work excellent, eliciting loud applause.

The main number of the evening was a farce entitled "Our Sister Masons," with the following cast of characters:

Sister Angelcake—Mrs. Ruth Full-er.
Sister Gossip—Miss Claribel Meg-ginson.
Busybody—Mrs. S. B. Robertson.
Thankful—Mrs. C. Justus Wright.
Sister Lonesome—Mrs. Joseph Self.
Mrs. Padlock and Mrs. Ipecac, candidates—Mrs. J. T. Warcup and Miss Ethel Shirley.
Policeman—Joseph Self.
Sister Backbite—Miss Lena Meg-ginson.
Sister Peek-a-bo—Miss Marie Megginson.

The affair was a humorous burlesque on Masonry, a number of ladies claiming that their husbands in their sleep had given away the secrets of the order and they had acquired them and were having a lodge of their own and initiating members after the most approved style. The whole performance was irresistibly funny.

Miss Gleckler then recited another humorous production, "The One Legged Goose." After more music by the orchestra, Miss Gleckler again recited the remarks of a friend from the Vaterland. "I was glad I was here," and this ended a delightful occasion.

MAKING INVESTIGATION OF GAME PRESERVES

State Game Warden J. M. Entwistle of Havana with his deputies Edwards and McCrans are making an exhaustive investigation of the game preserves which line the banks of the Illinois river from Peoria to the Mississippi river.

It is understood that flagrant violations of the game laws have made this inspection necessary. The vast flocks of ducks which have been slaughtered this fall gives rise to the report that many of the gun clubs are "baiting" the birds with corn on their favorite feeding grounds and it is this practice which the warden is particularly determined to break up. Gunners all along the river report a dull season in every branch of the sport with the exception of the ducks. They say there are plenty of them.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH REVIVAL IS

BROUGHT TO SUCCESSFUL CLOSE

Seventy-Five are Added in Three-Week Series Thru Labors of Dr. Brandt—The Victories of Christianity Theme of Strong Sermon.

With a total of seventy-five conversions and attendance which for the most part was very good, the three-week series of revival meetings at Central Christian church in charge of the Rev. John L. Brandt, pastor of First Christian church at St. Louis was brought Friday evening, to a successful close. "The Victories of Christianity" was Dr. Brandt's subject and after the discourse the speaker took occasion to thank members of the church, the pastor and the choir for support given during the meetings and to express his approbation of the city and its people. He advised young people to make the church the center of social life. After brief baptismal service a large part of the audience remained to bid farewell to Dr. and Mrs. Brandt and to extend best wishes to them in all future work.

In the days of its inception Christianity found itself often in the position of rebellion against the established order. Early day Christianity had to fight "the things that are" even as later day Christianity must, said the speaker by way of introduction.

The early church was opposed by Judaism as its mortal enemy. The advocates of Judaism broke up the Jerusalem church and scattered its adherents.

Christianity was opposed by Paganism and all the pagan world with its belief and practices which contained so much that was cruel. Every conceivable form of torture and death was adopted by Rome in Christian persecution.

The early Christians found themselves in opposition to the barbarians of the north, the ancestors of us, ourselves. For a time it looked as if the church would go, but finally it led them to the foot of the Cross and thereby scored one of its greatest victories.

Infidelity and skepticism stood forth against the teachings of the church in that day as well as in this and in the gradual disappearance of blatant skepticism is witnessed another of the church's victories.

Among the victories of the church are numbered also the uplifting of woman and the placing of a greater value upon the child. Immeasurable has been the benefit to society and greatly have the civilizations of the west been strengthened.

Christianity was an asset to the world commercially, teaching honesty, sobriety, economy and industry. Great men there are of course who are not Christians, but these often have not given time to a study of the message contained in the life and

"STATE CHAMPS" WILL FINISH SEASON TODAY

ILLINOIS MEETS CARTHAGE TODAY

LAST GAME OF SEASON FOR LOCAL COLLEGE ELEVEN

Contest Will Decide Whether Illinois College Is Champions of "Little Sixteen" Conference and Also of State—Carthage Team Arrived Last Night.

Illinois college football team and Carthage college will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on Illinois field. The game is an important one for Illinois, for on its results hinges Illinois championship honors. Having gone the entire season without a defeat, and after playing the best teams in the "Little Sixteen" conference Illinois now rests its claims for the honor in the contest today. The winning of the game means more to Illinois than the championship of the minor colleges. It means that Illinois, by virtue of the scoreless tie which Lombard and Monmouth, claimant of the championship of the "Little Five" conference played yesterday, can claim the honors for the entire state, because Lombard was beaten by Illinois earlier in the season by a score of 14 to 7.

Last Game for Locals.
The contest this afternoon will be the last of the season for Illinois college. Several days ago Coach Harmon negotiated with Monmouth college for a contest here Thanksgiving day. Monmouth decided not to invade Illinois' territory, and it is a good thing for Illinois that she thus decided, for if Monmouth couldn't beat Lombard what would be the chances against Illinois. Again Coach Harmon attempted to get a game with Southern Illinois Normal but they had a Thanksgiving game set. As a last resort an offer was made to Millikin university for Illinois to play an exhibition game there Thanksgiving day, but Coach Wann replied that Millikin had closed a deal with Lincoln. It was with much regret that Coach Wann turned down Illinois' offer, for he realized the big drawing card Illinois would be on the Millikin grounds. So it has been decreed that after the game closes this afternoon, the football togs will be laid away until the 1916 football season.

Capt. Fred Stewart, Quarterback.
Capt. Stewart will play his last game of football for the Blue and White this afternoon. For four years he has been the guiding hand of the Illinois team at quarterback. If he can drive his team to victory this afternoon he will have piloted his team to the college championship of Illinois.

The Carthage football team arrived in the city last night and were housed at the Douglas hotel. Carthage has been playing some splendid ball this season, despite the fact that they were defeated by William and Vashit and Lombard. They won from La Grange college (Mo.) by a score of 59 to 0 and won from Macomb Normal by a score of 29 to 6. Captain Simmons stated last night that his eleven was prepared to give Illinois an interesting game this afternoon and the weather man looks as though he was going to give an ideal afternoon, for the favorite season pastime. The Carthage team is coached by "Stuart" Clark, a former player of William and Vashit, who is well known by the local players. He is a member of the famous Clark brothers who have made good in the football world. There ought to be a big crowd out this afternoon, to see the Illinois men in their last game. Coach Harmon put his men thru a light signal practice last night and everything is set for the championship game.

The following will be the lineup:
Illinois pos. Carthage
Karch re Bodkins
Frisbie rt Windman
Thiebaud rg Sandehr
Russell c Broeker
Zink lg Lesher
Mitchell lt Elbright
Pierce le Jenkins
Stewart (c) qb Erwin
Wilson rhb Ferris

Carthage substitutes: Harris, Holt, Grive, Peters.
Official—Morse (Ames).

LOMBARD-MONMOUTH PLAY SCORELESS TIE

GAME REPLETE WITH THRILLING MOMENTS.

Lombard is on the Defensive for the Most Part, Except in the Last Quarter, When It Fought Desperately to Score.

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 19.—Lombard and Monmouth colleges played to a scoreless tie here today in one of the most spectacular football games seen in this vicinity this season. It was a game replete with thrilling moments, due to the fast overhead playing, which included a large number of long punts and touch forward-passing.

The field was slippery and a snow flurry rendered sure judgment practically impossible, but despite this there seemed to be little fumbling, and the runners showed good form in getting down the field on punts and passes.

Lombard was on the defensive for the most part, except in the last quarter, when it fought desperately to score.

For Monmouth, Kelly and Raymond were the individual stars, while Phillips, in defensive play, and Jackson, in offensive tactics, were the shining lights of Lombard.

The lineup follows:
Lombard O. Position Monmouth O.
Foedisch R. E. Turnbull
Beckner R. T. McCleary
Halloran R. G. Fraedler
Seely C. Quimby
Pugh L. C. Waldon
Phillips L. T. H. Gormley
Heller L. E. Eddy
Winters O. B. Wray
Adkinson R. H. Kelly
Jackson L. H. McConnel
Rosequist F. B. Raymond
Referee—Eckersall, Chicago.
Umpire—Knight, Dartmouth.
Head Linesman—Keithley, Illinois.
Field Judge—DeTrav, Chicago.
Time of Periods—15 minutes.

CANADIAN ART EXHIBIT OPENS

Montreal, Nov. 18.—The annual exhibit of the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts opened here today in the galleries of the Art Association of Montreal. The traveling scholarship will be awarded. Miss Emily Coonan, the first winner of this prize, has not gone abroad on account of the war.

Misses Irene Sandberg and Georgia Bacon are taking in the excursion to Chicago.

John Karch, Right End.
Karch, too, will wear the Illinois football togs today for the last time. Like his teammates and classmates, Stewart and Alford, he is playing his fourth and last year of college football. Ground gained around his end this afternoon will be well earned for all season he has shown himself to be of caliber fitted for a position on the Championship team.

HARVARD AND YALE ELEVENS MEET TODAY

GENERAL INTEREST IN CLASH HAS NOT ABATED.

Greatest of All Eastern Football Classics Will Be Witnessed by a Throng of Thousands—Ale Has Not Entirely Given Up Hope of Winning.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 19.—With their banners of Crimson and Blue flung to the breeze as in the old days when they battled for the championship of the gridiron, the football teams of Harvard and Yale meet here tomorrow in the final contest of their respective schedules. Although shorn of much of their former gridiron glory there is not the slightest abatement in general interest in the annual clash of the rival elevens and the greatest of all eastern football classics will be witnessed by a throng of thousands which will test the capacity of the Harvard Stadium as in the years when the winner was acclaimed the premier team of the season.

While there is no possibility of new attendance or gate receipt records this fact is due to the inability to accommodate more than 47,000 persons in the Stadium on Soldiers Field. If the great Harvard amphitheatre had the seating capacity of the Yale Bowl it is not unlikely that the gridiron struggle of the morrow would attract a gathering as large as that which was present at the dedication of the Eli's arena last autumn when Harvard won from Yale 36 to 0. The demand for tickets, which is far in tomorrow for not in many years has that lure of the game is not dependent upon the elevens of the famous universities entering the final contest of the year with unblemished banners.

If such were the case there would be many empty tiers in the Stadium excess of supply, has demonstrated Yale come to Cambridge with such a dismal record as that made by the team of 1915. Eliminating all consideration of the Princeton game the fact remains that the Blue lost four of the first seven games of her schedule being defeated by Virginia, Brown, Colgate and Washington and Jefferson. A desperate effort to rally the shattered forces of the Blue was made in the closing weeks of the season, but with partial success. A new corps of coaches was called in after Colgate's triumph and against Brown and Princeton the Eli eleven showed marked improvement. Compared with Harvard's record of victory over all teams faced this fall, except Cornell, the outlook for the Blue to defeat the Crimson is not particularly bright.

There are reasons, however, why Yale has not entirely given up hope of being able to save a most disastrous season from utter rout by winning or tying with the Cambridge combination in the closing contest of the year. The Eli football material is not without its merits and while it is admitted that Yale made a wretched start the faithful adherents of the team believe that the eleven will arise to the occasion tomorrow and surprise the optimistic Harvard contingent. Cornell proved that the Crimson was not invincible while Penn State and Princeton, although defeated several times, threatened to overwhelm the Cambridge team.

That Yale should succeed where these powerful teams failed seems unlikely but the hopeful point out that man for man there is little advantage one way or the other. Harvard, with its almost perfect coaching system, has evolved a fine football machine, while Yale has yet to find itself. Yale had been defeated by Brown and the Army; held to a scoreless tie by Vanderbilt; had great difficulty in defeating Syracuse and Holy Cross, yet rallied under the eleventh-hour coaching of Shevlin and succeeded in defeating Princeton and holding Harvard to a no-score tie.

Those who know the real meaning of the old Yale fighting spirit; the possibilities of the present squad and the driving power of Shevlin, an emergency coach, hope for the best and are not averse to wagering reasonable sums on the Blue at the odds Harvard cohorts have been offering. To the great majority of followers of the two universities the question of victory or defeat is not of the utmost import. The fact that Yale and Harvard are to meet in the greatest sports event of the intervarsity year is sufficient reason for their presence in the Stadium on Saturday and they will be there with wives, sisters and sweethearts until there remains not room for another person. Other elevens may be hailed as champions but tomorrow all that will be forgotten as the two ancient rivals struggle in the green turf pit surrounded by the towering walls of the Stadium to which will cling, in serried rows, thousands of the loyal followers of these universities.

Even the defeat be its portion, Yale will not be without some consolation, for it will be many years before Harvard elevens can overtake the long lead that the Blue gained in the early days of football between the two institutions. Since 1875 the teams of the Blue and Crimson have met on the gridiron thirty-five times. Of these games Yale has won twenty-two; Harvard eight and five have resulted in tie contests. Since 1883, when the point scoring system was introduced Yale has rolled up a total of 279 points to Harvard's 143.

Ernest Alford, Fullback.
Alford will be seen in today's game plunging the line for the last time. He started his football career six years ago this fall when he was enrolled in Whipple academy. Thru all these seasons he has been a steady, reliable player, fitting himself for the fullback position on the State Championship team.

ILLINOIS SHOULD DEFEAT MAROONS

MINNESOTA IS EXPECTED TO DOWN BADGERS.

Only the Happening of the Unexpected Can Sever the Tie Between Illinois and Minnesota for the Conference Championship.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Only the happening of the unexpected tomorrow can sever the tie between Illinois and Minnesota for the conference championship. On form, Minnesota should down the Badgers and Illinois should defeat the Maroons, leaving unsolved the puzzle, as it was when Gophers and Illinois finished their battle to a six to six draw October 30th. But in a year of upsets prophets are wary of predictions and declare they would not be surprised to see Chicago beat Zuppke's team, despite the showing by comparative scores. Some, too, are inclined to give Wisconsin an outside chance of beating Minnesota.

The card for tomorrow which practically closes the season in the central states, includes combats of historic interest as well as of championship importance as follows:

Illinois vs Chicago.
Minnesota vs Wisconsin.
Iowa vs Nebraska.
Ohio State vs Northwestern.
Purdue vs Indiana.
Wabash vs DePauw.
Juneau Has Set of Cripples.
Madison, Wis., Nov. 19.—On a defense built to stop Minnesota rests

Wisconsin's hope in a contest which appears tonight to be nearly hopeless. For his attack Coach Juneau must depend partly on a set of cripples—Byers, Smith and Rieger. The latter will go into the game wearing a brace to protect his broken ribs. Smith played a short time against Illinois last week and Byers made his first appearance of the week in practice yesterday. The probable line-up:

Minnesota	pos.	Wisconsin
Basten	le	Stavrum
Turnquist	lt	Buck
Sinclair	lg	G. Simpson
Hanson	c	Gunderson
Dunnigan	rg	Hancock
Hauser	rt	Filtzer
Quist	re	Meyers
Long	qb	E. Simpson or Taylor
Bierman	lh	Glaver or Byers
Ballentyne	rh	Smith or Cummings
Wyman	fb	Reiger or Kreuse

Nebraska to Meet Iowa.
Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 19.—Only one football game of importance will be played in the Missouri Valley tomorrow. That contest, a clash between the University of Nebraska and the University of Iowa elevens at Lincoln gave little promise of being of championship class. Nebraska is a topheavy favorite.

The elevens of the University of Missouri and Kansas will rest tomorrow preparatory to the game between the school at Columbia on Thanksgiving Day.

Other important Thanksgiving Day games are the University of Texas-Notre Dame clash at Austin, the Drake-Ames contest at Des Moines, the Oklahoma-Oklahoma Aggies battle at Oklahoma City and the Georgetown-St. Louis University game at St. Louis.

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

WAR DIFFICULTIES THREATENING SHIPMENTS LOWER WHEAT PRICE

Bear Leaders Predict Heavy Increases in Domestic Visible Supply Unless Radical Change Takes Place Soon.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—War difficulties which threatened a virtual stop to shipments for Mediterranean ports resulted today in lowering the wheat market here. Prices, although steady at the close were $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to $\frac{3}{4}$ ¢ down, with December \$1.04 $\frac{1}{2}$ and May, \$1.06 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Corn showed a gain of $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ and oats of $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢.

Provisions finished unchanged to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ higher.

Heavy increases in the domestic visible supply total were predicted change took place soon in the export situation regarding wheat.

It was said the large weekly clearances were due mainly to shipments of Canadian wheat and that there were prospects of a general refusal by United States export concerns to sell to foreign countries unless the purchaser assumed all risk after a delivery aboard ship.

Corn developed notable strength owing to a report that the crop movement was not increasing as rapidly as expected. Scarcity of cars was said to be a hindrance and there were handicaps from adverse weather. Oats reflected the action of corn. Seaboard demand continued.

Provisions tended to upgrade with hogs. Shorts were the chief buyers.

PHYSICIANS AND LAWYERS BANQUET

COMMON INTERESTS OF PROFESSIONS DISCUSSED BY ATTORNEYS.

Members of the Medical Society and the Morgan County Bar Hear Robert J. Folonle of Chicago at Hotel Douglas Banquet—The Benefits of Mutual Understanding.

"Some of the Legal Rights and Relations of Physicians" was the subject of an address on common professional problems by Robert J. Folonle of Chicago Friday evening to members of the Morgan County Medical society and the Morgan county bar assembled around the banquet table at the Hotel Douglas. Mr. Folonle is attorney for the medical committee of the Illinois State Medical society and he spoke with the authority of one who has given much time and thought to the problems which confront the professions in common.

For many years a Chicago resident, Dr. Folonle formerly lived in Beardstown. He is a son of Dr. Joseph Folonle, who died in the smallpox epidemic of 1881, and soon after his father's demise went to Chicago to enter law school. Dr. Folonle was introduced by Dr. George Stacy, president of the medical society, at the close of a well-served banquet in the hotel dining room, of which physicians and lawyers to the number of fifty partook. J. P. Lippincott, W. N. Hargrove, Thomas Worthington, Dr. C. E. Black, Dr. E. F. Baker, Dr. J. W. Hargrave and Dr. Edward Rowe were among those who engaged in an informal discussion.

Dr. Folonle said in part: "The essential distinction between the professions and commercial lines is that one is based on trust and the other on distrust. The professional man is not in a position of equality with his patient or client. He must do more than refrain from falsehood or unfairness. He must actively guard the interests of the one with whom he deals. The maxim which controls business as recognized by the law is: 'Let the buyer beware.' The true minister of a profession must be a man of ideals. If a trader can get the better of him with whom he deals—that is legitimate. The doctor or lawyer, on the contrary, feels even a higher responsibility toward the ignorant than toward those whom God has blessed with enough mind and judgment to somewhat safeguard their own affairs.

"The learned professions are field devoted to service. That does not mean, as many think, that we should labor without price. The good servant should receive his wage. When our labors of love are spurred by charity it is enabling. Every one of you has given ungrudgingly of his time with no expectation of reward; but when you render service to those who can recompense you, and justly should, you cheapen yourself and your profession if thru sloth or cowardice you let it become an involuntary charity cloyed with regret and ingratitude.

Commerce and Professions. "Commerce and the professions are dissimilar yet associated. Commerce is the body of civilization. Medicine and law are its nerves that feel its wrongs and sense its well-being and vitalize its every sensation. That network of nerves must co-ordinate—must work in unison. Hemiplegia is inexcusable.

"The lawyer, as a rule, knows little of the work of the physician. He reads with amusement and commiseration for his ancestors of witches' brews and how the savages of old ate the heart of the slain enemy to make their own heart strong and brave.

"The practitioner of the healing art is equally appalled by the intricacies of the law. To his mind it consists of, first, the head of the staff called the judge, who delights in impaling victims on pin-points; secondly, a vivisectionist called a lawyer, who is never happy unless he has a victim to carve up.

Future Lawyers and Doctors. "I know how false these viewpoints are and must be. The law is an instrument to advance your science. I stop to prophesy: The truly great physician of the future will be not the surgeon who with his skill takes away that which offends, nor yet the doctor who quiets an ache or pain with ministrations. The great lawyer will not be he who can by eloquence or skill save his client loss or gain his rights. The great physician and the great lawyer of tomorrow are those who will join to make humanity better by co-ordinate effort. They will drive out the slavery of drugs by moulding public thought and laws.

"When the lawyer understands the baneful effects of alcohol as you physicians do, the end of its indiscriminate use and abuse will be in sight. When vision of both are broadened to work for a common good, not sporadically and as individuals, but as enlightened, well-paid, conscientious agents of the public, dirty, dusty streets will be no more; not because of aesthetic reasons alone, but because the dust atoms are recognized as chariots of death.

New Standards of Morals. "In time, feeding an infant milk filled with poisonous bacilli will be recognized equally by lawyers and physicians as a crime as great as any committed by the Borgias. In time, the causes of preventable insanity and degeneracy will be rooted out and not only recognized but your profession and mine will go deeper than incarceration or vasectomy as cure-alls and work scientifically as agents of preventive medicine and preventive law for the weal of all.

"Just now, however, we have immediate problems more pressing and capable of remedy in the present.

"Through a want of understanding (I might say ignorance) a physician acting as an expert in court too often brings expert evidence and, incidentally, his profession, into disrepute. Between his ignorance of the law and its purpose and the lawyer's ignorance of the witness' science, they work at cross purposes as effectually as if they were of alien tongues. This misunderstanding between us can arise very honestly.

A Case in Point. "A prisoner is on trial for murder. His sanity is in question. His lawyer knows only the rule of the law which fixes an inflexible criterion of responsibility, namely: the ability to distinguish right from wrong, at the time of and in respect to the act. The physician has learned in his science that there are many gradations of insanity. In his profession insanity is any disease of the brain inducing disordered mental symptoms. In his concept the term embraces mental and nervous derangements from the normal and may include hysteria, hypochondria, epilepsy and other forms of derangement.

"The lawyer goes to the physician and asks him for an opinion of his client's sanity. The physician, in ignorance of what legal insanity is, readily gives opinion that the prisoner is insane, having in mind his own definition. The lawyer interprets this in the light of the meaning of the term in law, in ignorance of the infinite gradations recognized by the alienist.

"And it ends in a compromise with conscience, all around, because they have been talking a different language. Each thinks the other is not completely honest, whereas in fact they are primarily deficient in information they should have.

"What is the remedy? Shall it be experts selected by the court or hearings on sanity independent of the trial, of guilt of crime, or yet something else. It seems to me that these questions are matters of detail. What we need first of all is an acquaintance and understanding between the professions sufficient at least to formulate a form of speech mutually intelligible. A problem in etymology ought to sound stupendous to a lawyer versed in the doctrines of proximate cause. A lawyer ought to appreciate that a diagnosis is not always a finality. It is like a demurrer; you hope much from it, but the judge doesn't always sustain you. We do not always understand why an operation proves unsuccessful. Well, just consider that a resort to the knife is an appeal, and you are at the disadvantage of having judgment against you before you reach that point.

Lack of Understanding. "Neither a lawyer nor a physician is a guarantor; they are bound only to good faith and ordinary skill and care.

"This misunderstanding and lack of understanding has its most disgraceful form at present in a multiplicity of baseless suits for malpractice against physicians. I say it with unusual opportunities for observation, and I believe, with complete absence of bias, that 90 per cent of claims for malpractice asserted against physicians would be instantly rejected by any lawyer with a medical education as baseless upon their face.

"For instance, in one case a girl called upon a physician at his office to relieve pain in the hip. He elicited no valuable history and prescribed upon a tentative diagnosis of rheumatism, with instructions to return if any further pain was experienced. The patient never returned. Six months later another physician was called, who found the patient bedridden, with a history indicating tuberculosis. This diagnosis was confirmed and the patient put in a plaster cast and other measures prescribed. A shortening of the limb ensued. Suit was brought against the first attendant, alleging that he erroneously diagnosed the case and against the later attendant in a separate suit alleging negligent diagnosis and treatment. The lawyer explained to me that one set of doctors was certainly wrong and he was going to make them testify against each other. I thought it useless to try and convince him before trial that he was ridiculously wrong in each instance. Yet to him his logic is conclusive.

Suits for Malpractice. "There is also a growing tendency when collection of a physician's bill is attempted to counterclaim with a charge of malpractice. The physician is partly to blame. He has indulged sentimentality about his profession to the point that many believe that he is a free spring of healing. You owe it to a proper appreciation of the dignity of your service to require pay when the patient is able to pay. If you have honorably and honestly dealt with him, do not countenance his slanders by abandoning your claim.

"I esteem your profession only slightly less than my own. I love not only the great leaders of it but the humble workers who are destined in a smaller field to wear out

MRS. HINRICHSSEN'S ADDRESS

An Excellent Paper Read Before the Woman's Country Club of Orleans at the Annual Meeting.

The following is the able address of Mrs. W. H. Hinrichsen, retiring president of the Woman's Country Club of Orleans, at the annual meeting held at her residence Thursday evening.

"Another year has passed since our last open meeting, a year so full of good things, a year so full of blessings that trials and annoyances fade away into the background, where they belong. There are so many things to be thankful for, one of which is that our club circle remains unbroken, that no new name appears 'In Memoriam' on our new program.

"My mind goes back to about this time in the year, sixteen years ago, when just a handful of women organized the Woman's Country Club. Gradually the numbers increased until the club bade fair to become unwieldy; then it was that the membership was limited to thirty members. We have gone on, improving our minds, our homes, our schools, our health, doing all things we thought were good, leaving undone the things that were not, until today we stand a power for good in the community. You men know that we have not neglected you, that your homes are brighter, that we are better comrades because we are club women. Recently a gentleman asked me why it was that the women in his home town were such gossip; they knew every trilling thing about their neighbors' affairs, and seemed to care for nothing but little tattling. I asked him if there were any women's clubs there. He said no. Do they take an interest in the schools, in the public health work, in the anti-tuberculosis work? He said no. There was the answer to his question. They had nothing to do or to think about. When a woman's mind and time are occupied she cares only for the things that are worth while. It is seldom you find a woman who does not belong to some club, and people no longer make a joke of the mother-in-law or the club woman. Contrast the women of today with our grandmothers, our lovely grandmothers, who when their children were grown up retired from active life, put on caps and simply grew old. Today there are no old women. We have the years, and the silver in our hair, but our active life and interest in live questions keep the new of youth in our hearts. The clubs have not done all this for us; they are not old enough; it is the wonderful age of progress in which we live that has developed us all. Our men! Nowhere are there such men as ours. In no other country on earth are women honored and revered as we are. Our men are proud of us and are not ashamed to say so, and we, with all our hearts, do we give thanks for the privilege of belonging to that noblest thing God has created—the American man."

TRY "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS IF SICK OR BILIOUS Tonight! Clean your bowels and stop headache, colds, sour stomach.

Get a 10-cent box now. Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and bad colds—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach. Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the coagulated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great. A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.—Adv.

The greatest enemy of your teeth

When scientists recently discovered the cause of that dread disease, pyorrhea, they discovered the greatest enemy of your teeth. Why yours? Because the germ that causes this disease inhabits every human mouth!

Your dentist will tell you that half of all the permanent teeth lost are lost from this disease. This is because people have not realized before that everyone should take precautions against this enemy. You can start now to ward off its constant attack and escape the terrible results of this disease by using the proper corrective and preventive treatment in your daily toilet.

To meet the need for this treatment and to enable everyone to take precautions against this disease, a prominent dentist has put his own prescription before

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT FUNCTIONS ARE DEFINED

Carl Vrooman, Assistant Secretary, Tells of Attitude Toward Large Commercial Interests.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 19.—The attitude of the federal department of agriculture toward "big business" was explained here afresh today by Carl Vrooman, assistant secretary of the department, in a speech at the University of Wisconsin.

"Primarily constructive, and only secondarily critical and regulatory," was Mr. Vrooman's definition of the attitude of the department toward the larger commercial and industrial interests. He went on to say that the department exercised its functions as a curb upon business activities only in proportion as such exercises was made necessary for the protection of life, property and human rights.

"We are engaged in a stupendous task," he said; "not primarily a regressive or punitive task, but in the main a splendidly constructive task, which, when it has been scientifically met and worked out, must necessarily result in lasting benefit for every legitimate interest involved."

"We are working for the farmer, but not for the farmer as against other interests that are legitimate. Rather for the farmer, that we may at the same time help the consumer, the banks, the railroads, and even the unpopular middleman, insofar as these interests and individuals are performing useful social functions for a just return. We are working for every legitimate interest connected with the agriculture of the country, and we must realize that no one of these interests can adequately and permanently be taken care of unless all other legitimate interests are cared for in like measure."

"By a 'legitimate' enterprise I mean one in which a man gives to society an equivalent of what he gets from society. The man who gets rich by some anti-social process of gaining control of the product of the toil of other people is a social and economic parasite. The man who gets rich by enlisting the co-operation of others by increasing his own welfare in proportion as he increases the welfare of those associated with him, is a public benefactor. Such a man gives as much as he gets. This class of men who are merely just, merge into a still higher type, that of those rare individuals who give more than they get—those who give to society both heart and soul and sometimes livelihood, as well as mere material things. Of such are the greatest patriots and spiritual leaders of men."

ADJUDGED INSANE. Julius Neiman, son of Henry Neiman of Arenzville was adjudged insane Thursday in the county court of Cass County and committed to the Jacksonville State hospital. He had been in ill health for some time and attempted to kill his father with a knife.

TWO ACRE REARING POND FOR BLACK BASS IS COMPLETED

Four New Cement Trout Ponds are Added to Equipment at Spring Grove—To Use "Fingerlings" to Restock Streams.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 19.—A two-acre rearing pond for black bass has just been completed for the fish and game commission at the state hatchery plant at Spring Grove, Ill. Four new cement trout ponds have been added to the equipment there so that hereafter "fingerlings" will be used in restocking the rivers, streams and lakes of the state with fish. Heretofore "fry," or fish about the size of mosquito, have been distributed. "Fingerlings" as the name implies, are about the size of a man's finger.

A fish car, with tanks capable of holding many thousands of young fish, is being built for the state and when this is completed all "fingerlings" will be distributed about the state from this car, which is also planned to advertise the conservation work of the commission.

Arrangements have been completed with the federal government whereby every third car of fish reared from overflow land along the Illinois bank of the Mississippi is distributed in Illinois. It has been the custom for the national government to take all these fish out of the state to parts of the country less plentifully supplied than Illinois.

Reports received here from all over the state indicate that quail are plentiful in the southern part, but elsewhere their numbers have been thinned as a result of much high water, which drowned many fledglings last spring.

WELL KNOWN SPEAKERS AT ANNUAL SCOTT COUNTY FARMERS INSTITUTE

Two-Day Session Opened at Bluffs Friday—Assistant State Highway Engineer Made Road-Betterment Suggestions—Farm and Home Economy Problems Discussed.

The Scott County Farmers' Institute began a two days' session at Bluffs Friday. A session was held at the opera house, when subjects of special interest to men were presented, and at the same time a program of particular interest to women was carried out at the M. P. church. At night a joint session was held at the opera house, and the whole day's program was one of the very best ever presented for an institute in this part of the state. Addresses were made by Mr. and Mrs. Frank I. Mann of Gilman, Dr. E. B. Rogers of Springfield, H. B. Peipmeier of Springfield, and H. C. McCarrell of Kinderhook.

At the morning session the invocation was given by Rev. C. H. Smith, and the first speaker was Mr. McCarrell. His theme was "The Elements of Plant Life." Mr. McCarrell has a farm near Kinderhook where the progressive methods of agriculture he has followed for a period of years have brought good results. He pays special attention to dairying and has been greatly interested in a system of crop rotation to maintain the soil fertility. He talked yesterday of the value of legumes and the soil elements which are necessary in their growth. Many farms in Pike county have acid soils and Mr. McCarrell spoke of the value of limestone and phosphate in the production of legume crops.

Silos and Ensilage.
In the afternoon Mr. McCarrell's theme was "Silos and Ensilage." He has been a silo user for a period of years and prefers the wooden type, altho there are some advantages which can be claimed for the tile and concrete block silos. He does not believe in having a silo very great in diameter, but thinks a good height is essential to provide sufficient pressure. The objection to a silo of wide diameter is that too small a deposit is taken off for each day's feeding. In addition to the silos erected above ground, Mr. McCarrell spoke of the pit type, which has been found to work advantageously in many localities and has the recommendation of low construction cost. The history of the silo was traced in a very interesting way. It seems that its use originated in Germany, where the method of making and preserving kraut suggested the plan with reference to corn. Then the idea spread to France, and afterward the value of the silo came to be generally recognized.

Clay and Sand Roads.
H. B. Peipmeier is an assistant engineer of the state highway commission and his subject yesterday was "Earth and Oiled Roads." The speaker laid emphasis upon the value of dragging and said that just as good dragging could be done at a cost of $25 a mile per year as would result from the expenditure of a larger sum if the work was done intelligently and at the right time. Mr. Peipmeier said that in oiling roads that the matter of grading is important if the work is to endure. Unless a road be properly graded there will be depressions which will later become mudholes. He said that some stretches of roadway which had been oiled for a period of years showed that the oil solidified the soil to a depth of six inches. Referring to local conditions, as there are some sand roads in the vicinity of Bluffs, the speaker suggested that the way to get good results would be to mix clay with the sand. If these are fairly mixed and roads kept properly graded and drained, the result will be satisfactory.

Frank I. Mann, who has a reputation of being one of the most successful and scientific farmers in the state, made an address on crop production. He spoke of crops from the preparation of the soil, thru seedling time, cultivation, and clear up to the harvest. The problem of soil fertility in Illinois. Mr. Mann declares, rests upon the use of limestone and phosphate, and similar crops. He maintains that the ideal way to keep up a soil fertility would be by the application of manure, but since this is impossible to the desired extent, the plan of raising clover and other legumes is necessary. This cannot be done except by the use of limestone and phosphate. At the night session, Dr. E. B. Rogers had for his theme, "Living and a Life." In his splendid address the speaker dwelt upon the value of an education not only for the development of the individual but because of the contribution the individual is thus able to make to the well-being of society. This address was enlivened by the narration of incidents which gave it sprightliness and interest.

Some Home Problems.
Mrs. Mann, in three addresses delivered during the day, considered home problems. She discussed food for the family, taking into consideration the limits and appetites of the average home. She told about the elements of nutrition and the various foods best adapted to the needs of members of the family of varying ages. Mrs. Mann gave a demonstration in the preparation of meat substitutes, showing what can be used in place of meat if the meat becomes too expensive or is injurious. Various problems which confront the housekeeper in adjusting the economies necessary in the home to the daily needs were considered and many helpful suggestions were made. The institute will continue today, with sessions both morning and afternoon. Mr. Mann will talk again, Mrs. H. A. McKeene and Mrs. Mann will be heard, and there will be two addresses by C. C. Pervier of Sheffield, a successful stockman.

EDWARD WHITMER DIES SUDDENLY IN CHICAGO

Former Well Known Resident of Jacksonville Passes Away from Heart Disease—Body Will Be Brought Here.

Edward Whitmer for many years a resident of this city died suddenly at his home in Chicago Friday morning. So far as it is known he had not been ill and death probably was due to heart trouble. The news came as a great shock to his many friends here.

Deceased was the son of Henry and Anna Whitmer and was born in Decatur in October, 1864, and was 52 years of age at the time of his death. About 1883 Mr. Whitmer in company with his brother, Howard, came to Jacksonville and established the Whitmer tile and brick yard at the eastern city limits. The yard was one of the largest in this part of the state and was operated successfully for a number of years. Mr. Whitmer's brother only remained here a few years when he returned to Decatur. The business was continued by Edward Whitmer. Many of the streets in the city are paved with brick which were made in the Whitmer yard.

Mr. Whitmer disposed of his property holdings here about ten years ago and removed with his family to Texas. After a residence there several years the family moved to Arkansas and recently they went to Chicago where Mr. Whitmer has been in the employ of the street railway company. The family resided at 4609 Michigan boulevard.

Mr. Whitmer was united in marriage in this city about twenty-eight years ago to Miss Ida Mitchell. His widow and three daughters survive. They are Mrs. Harry F. Strawn of Strawn's Crossing, Miss Vivian Whitmer, teacher of art in the Jacksonville public schools, and Miss Helen Whitmer who resides at home. One brother Frank Whitmer of Decatur and two sisters, Mrs. Arthur McNabb of Decatur and Mrs. Harry Byrns of Chicago and one granddaughter, Helen Vivian Strawn of Strawn's Crossing also survive.

During Mr. Whitmer's residence in Jacksonville he was prominently identified with all forward movements. He was for several terms a member of the board of education in the First Ward. He was a member of State Presbyterian church and a member of the Masons, Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows.

The remains will arrive here this morning. The time of the funeral has not been decided upon.

FUNERALS

McCullough.
Funeral services for Mary Jane, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. McCullough, were held Friday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock at the home just west of Riggs, in charge of Rev. C. S. Jupin of Naples. The services both at the house and at the grave were private, only the immediate relatives being present.

Rev. Mr. Jupin opened services by a scripture reading from the twelfth chapter of Second Samuel, the 16th verse to 23rd inclusive and then read the following obituary:
Little Mary Jane, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Howard McCullough, was born the morning of Nov. 4th, 1915, and died just two weeks later, Nov. 18th. In the beginning of the second week of Little Rose Bud began to fade, and as her sufferings grew more intense, between the paroxysms of pain, she always wore an angelic smile. The advent of the little cherub brought us unspeakable joy, and in giving her back to the Lord, we are reconciled to the will of God, knowing that the Lord hath given and the Lord hath taken away. Blessed be the name of the Lord. To Mrs. McCullough, the anticipation of motherhood was fraught with the greatest happiness and joy. This same spirit manifested in the days of her happiness also shows in her complete reconciliation to the will of God, in this her great sorrow. We are glad to have Jesus have our Little Rose Bud, because Jesus said "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

After the reading of the scripture and obituary, Miss Minnie Coultas sang, "Some Day, Some Time We'll Understand." The minister then spoke impressively, taking as his text the 15th and 16th verses from the 18th chapter of Luke: "Jesus said, suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God." Rev. Mr. Jupin spoke words of comfort from this text, which he so truly stated was a sermon in itself. Miss Coultas then sang, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."

Interment was made in Gillham cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. W. G. McCullough, A. C. McCullough, W. E. McCullough and Arthur Vannier. Miss Alma McCullough, Miss Irene McCullough and Mrs. W. A. Fay cared for the many and beautiful flowers.

FIRE THREATENED SCHOOL AT NAPLES.

A near panic in the primary departments of the public schools at Naples followed the sudden blazing out of a sooty chimney Thursday afternoon. While the most of the pupils rushed from the room, the teacher stuck to her post. The fire shot into the room, filling the school with a choking smoke. Miss Cecil Hatfield, the teacher, called in Miss Wiseman, the intermediate teacher, and then called G. O. Parrish, the principal, who was instructing a class on the second floor. While the boys carried water the teachers fought the fire and finally got it under control. But there surely were two badly scared lady teachers. Little actual damage was done except blistering the paint on walls and ceiling all above the stove.

VALUE OF COMMUNITY EFFORT EXPLAINED BY DR. SHEPHERD

Delivered Address Before Business Men at Luncheon Fri.-ay Evening—Efficiency Week Program Would Seek to Bring Development Along Many Lines.

The luncheon arranged by the Chamber of Commerce was given at the Peacock Inn last night for the purpose of hearing Dr. R. P. Shepherd present a proposition concerning community movements. There were thirty present and they were interested in the presentation of the subject made by Dr. Shepherd. Frank J. Heintz, chairman of the rural affairs department of the Chamber of Commerce, presided and introduced the speaker. At the conclusion of the address, on motion of W. J. Brady, the chair was asked to appoint a committee to consider the question of adopting a plan outlined by Dr. Shepherd.

In explaining the movement which he advocates Dr. Shepherd said: "The retail merchant is up against it more sharply than any other factor in modern community life. He is expected to finance practically all public enterprises and civic improvements. At the same time mail order competition, chain stores and out of town trading, coupled with local competition between merchants, is continually lessening the ability of retail merchants to promote the outward marks of community prosperity."

A Popular Ideal.
"Community welfare is easily the most popular public ideal now agitating the minds of American citizens. This well being of the community must rest upon its commercial relations and upon community prosperity only can the other aspects of community life, religion and education, works of charity and benevolence, community sanitation and beautification, be permanently set up. The project which is before the merchants in Jacksonville for discussion and decision is an efficiency week. The public meetings of this efficiency week are devoted to high class entertainment and to the creation of sentiment which will make it not only prosperous in the value of its crops, but rich in its social relations, more beautiful in its setting, as healthful as human conditions can be made, and worthy of its best traditions in clean-cut moral standards and religious spirit."

The advantages of general agitation along these lines cannot properly be confined to the city limits of Jacksonville but must be generally distributed in all the community centers of the larger territory surrounding the city. From Ashland to Winchester the ideals and practices of efficient community life ought to be taken in the most generous and cordial way.

"Official government statistics indicate that 97 out of each 100 who embark in commercial enterprises lose all their accumulations before they are 50 years of age; 95 out of each 100 men 60 years of age in this country are said to be dependent upon their day's wages or upon their children for support. These facts are sufficient to challenge the earnest effort of every merchant and of every citizen engaged in commercial pursuits, and furnish an adequate motive to hearty co-operation in the development of efficient community life."

Brother Robert D. Graham will return and give his second lecture, "The Wages of a Master Mason," next Sunday afternoon, Nov. 21 at 2:30 o'clock in Masonic temple. All Master Masons are invited to attend.

BOY LOSES LEG BENEATH WHEELS OF WABASH TRAIN

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Maoney Meets With Accident Friday Afternoon—Patient at Passavant Hospital.

Because he wasn't afraid Harry Plasters, son of Mrs. Patrick Maoney of North Fayette street is at Passavant hospital with his right leg off at the knee. The boy fell under an east bound Wabash freight train at the North Diamond street crossing at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Police headquarters was notified and the ambulance rushed to the scene and the boy taken to the hospital. Dr. A. M. King and Dr. Ogram were also called and accompanied the boy to the hospital. Upon arrival there it was found that the right leg had been crushed badly and amputation was necessary the leg being removed at the knee.

According to the testimony of a number of children in the vicinity at the time, Plasters was on his way home from school with a number of other children. A Wabash east bound freight was across the Diamond street crossing. Several of the children, among them the Plasters boy, crawled under the train. After they got on the north side of the track the Plasters boy, so it is said, grabbed the step of one of the cars and swung himself from the ground. Several of the children told him to be careful or he would get hurt. About that time the train started to move. With the reply, "I ain't never got hurt yet," the children say, the Plasters boy again swung on the train. It seemed that a gust of wind swept him under the train. He lost his hold on the step of the car and fell underneath and two cars and the caboose ran over his right leg.

Several men in the vicinity carried the boy into a nearby residence and word was sent to the police station and to a number of physicians. Dr. King and Dr. Ogram responded. The boy underwent the ordeal of the operation in a satisfactory manner and unless complications set in he will no doubt recover.
